
(a) Delivered return against the required band
% per year (log scale)
400%
200% 100%
50% 20% 10%
278
160
69
30
36
157
62
39
27
26
2012–14
2015–17
2018–20
2021–23
2024–26
delivered: 12 × the average monthly return required band, average over the period required return used in the test: midpoint of the band
(b) The gap: delivered minus required (the midpoint) percentage points per year +300
+200
+100
0 −100
to +459
to −218 +120
+98
+30
+3
+10
2012–14
2015–17
2018–20
2021–23
2024–26
gap: circle minus blue line of panel (a)
± one standard error
± two standard errors
zero: delivered equals required
(c) What each model leaves unexplained (alpha): CAPM and MCM side by side, for each three-year period percent per year
+300
+200
+100
0 −100
to +546
to +407
to −175
to −328
three-year periods
whole sample, and since 2018
+185
+40
+141
+93
+53
+20
+10
−7
−1
−15
+90
+37
+24
+1
2012–14
2015–17
2018–20
2021–23
2024–26
2012–26
2018–26
CAPM alpha MCM alpha
± one standard error
± two standard errors
(d) The return to be explained, and what is left over percent per year
+300
+200
+100
0
−100
+6
−7
2016
2018
2020
2022
2024 2026
the return to be explained: what Bitcoin earned over the risk-free rate left unexplained by the CAPM left unexplained by the MCM equation
(e) Share of what Bitcoin earned that each model explains whole sample: CAPM 21%, MCM 67%
since 2018: CAPM 45%, MCM 96% 100%: all of it explained explained ÷ earned 100%
75%
50%
25% 0%
2016
2018
2020
2022
2024 2026 explained by the CAPM explained by the MCM equation